Capital Credit Union Announces Cash Management Team

BISMARCK, ND – Capital Credit Union today announced the addition of a Cash Management Team within the credit union's Business Department.

In addition to her current responsibilities as business credit analyst, Kaitlyn Ohlhauser will now also serve as cash management supervisor. Ohlhauser's experience as a business credit analyst and her strong knowledge and expertise of the credit union's business products and services makes her uniquely positioned for this role. She will be responsible for identifying, analyzing, and supporting business cash management products and services and working with the Business Services Team to expand depository and cash management business. Ohlhauser has been with Capital Credit Union since May 2016. She and her husband, Jake, live in Bismarck.

Ashley Ryberg has been promoted to cash management officer. Ryberg will be responsible for managing ongoing cash management relationships, prospecting new accounts and building on current account services. She will support all aspects of the implementation of member cash management needs including merchant capture, positive pay, and our online platform for business, CU Online. Ryberg has been with Capital Credit Union since August 2021, most recently as a business services associate. She and her husband, Christian, live in Bismarck.

Capital Credit Union's cash management services include ACH, which allows business members to manage payroll and vendor payments easily and cost-efficiently; Merchant Processing, which delivers payment processing solutions; Merchant Capture which allows business members to save time and money by scanning and depositing checks remotely; and Positive Pay, which protects businesses against altered and unauthorized checks, as well as questionable ACH transactions.

ABOUT CAPITAL CREDIT UNION
